

WARREN COUNTY PRESS RELEASE
Issued by: Warren County Administrator

Many County Committee meetings will now be recorded for viewing on You Tube!

County residents and other interested members of the public will now be able to view and listen to committee meetings online which have occurred on or after September 25, 2014 in the County Municipal Center Committee Room (which is where most committee meetings occur). Videos will generally be available for access within 72 hours of the time of the committee meeting.

County residents and other interested members of the public can access the video of the meetings by going to the Warren County website (www.warrencountyny.gov) and under the topic "County Board Agendas and Proceedings", by clicking on "Committee Members and Meeting Minutes". This will take you to a list of all committees where you can then click on the committee for which you are interested. This will then take you to a page where committee meeting minutes have been posted. If a video of the meeting is available, there will be a link that says "Click here to watch the meeting". This takes you to the You Tube site.

Please note that in keeping with the County's practice as allowed and provided under law, Executive Sessions will continue to not be recorded. Notifications of the video recordings are posted at entrances to the Committee Room and a notification light board has been installed so that committee members, staff and the public know when recording is occurring. We hope that you will find the new service informative and useful.

While we are very pleased to have this new service available to the public, the videos of committee meetings will continue to be a work in progress. We have plans to integrate the You Tube videos directly into the Warren County site to make for easier navigation. We will also be working to revamp the entire County web page to make it more user friendly, easier to navigate and to improve content. We will be issuing further press releases as new features are added.

Special thanks go out to the County IT Department, Buildings and Grounds staff and other County staff for their contributions in enabling video access to committee meetings.
